PUBLIC ART

BIKE RACK PROJECT

Public Art Bike Rack Project

In order to encourage more people to choose cycling as a transportation option and to weave art into the fabric of our urban infrastructure, the Public Art Commission selected five Southern California artists from an open competition in 2009 to design and fabricate bicycle racks that are identifiable, functional, and imaginative to be produced as a series of limited editions and integrated throughout the Downtown Cultural District as well as the Westside, College District and Eastside of Ventura. Bicyclists can now enjoy securing their bicycles at these locations:

Dragonfly
by L.T. Mustardseed at Ventura Pier & Promenade

Gears
by Douglas Lochner at Bell Arts Factory, 432 N Ventura Ave.

Bikerfly
by Tyson Cline at Chestnut & Main St.

Ocean
by L.T. Mustardseed at WAV (Working Artists Ventura)
175 S. Ventura Ave.

Fish
